

ESTABLISHED AUGUST 24, 1852.

The Intelligencer.

Office: Nos. 45 and 47 Fourteenth Street.

The feeling about wool in the East is said to look to greater firmness in the market.

The bank clearings up at Pittsburgh last week were $7,245,215, as against $5,825,000 for the same week last year, and $6 for the same week in 1879.

This region of country has escaped the frost of this far, but Northern New York seems to have had considerable of it. The change in the weather from Sunday and Monday to yesterday was a change from a temperature in which fire was pleasant to one in which wool clothing was a burden. Yesterday was close and sultry, but it was a day to bring the corn crop forward on the double quick.

We had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. Ben Davenport, of Chicago, formerly of this city. Mr. Davenport is a member of the Board of Trade in Chicago, and doing a good business as a broker in grain and provisions. He buys regularly for a number of parties in this region. He says that the present bull market in wheat is very strong, and may put the price materially higher. At the same time he does not believe that the price is warranted by the present crop prospects either in this country or in Europe. The best advice, while they do not indicate that the growing crop will equal that of last year, leave no doubt of an abundant supply for home consumption and a fair demand. The bull movement is therefore largely a matter of speculation. He thinks that wheat should rise at about a dollar per bushel in Chicago, but the bulls take it to $2. It is considered very dangerous to sell it short in the face of the crop movement behind it. Chicago now makes the price of wheat and pork for the whole country. The speculators in New York deal heavily in Chicago, and every one and awhile a heavy wheat deal is done in Wall Street. The celebrated Jim Keene organized an enormous deal a year ago. The present crop of wheat is expected to be as good as last year, and is therefore formidable. The Armours have been badly squeezed in pork.

Mr. Davenport finds Chicago a pleasant place to live, and has made valuable business and social acquaintances. His long experience here has qualified him to an unusual degree for the business he has engaged in.

PAID FOR.

The Pennsylvania Company Pays $150,000 on the P. W. & A. R. R.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 7.—President Ribbles, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, today paid to a committee of Boston shareholders some $150,000, due on the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad for stock bought by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The money was not due until July 1st, but the present financial condition of the road, being so good, it was thought wise to anticipate the payment. The subscriptions to the allotment of new stock, authorized at the last meeting, with the late heavy earnings and surplus on hand June 1st, furnished the necessary funds. Besides the $150,000 worth of stock, the Pennsylvania road has also purchased and paid for $1,000,000 more, bought from parties other than the Boston syndicate, and has distributed since June 1st $2,500,000 among its stockholders in the shape of dividends. The Pennsylvania Railroad will not take formal possession of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore road until July 1st, when both roads will be opened under the same general management.

ANOTHER DUEL.

DEED IN THE THIRD DISTRICT—The Code coming to the aid of the aggrieved.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 7.—A special to the Evening Call says that a duel was fought near the mouth of Hewitt's creek, Boone county, last Saturday, between John F. Jeffrey and James Elkins. Both men fired at the same time, and both fell pierced to the heart. Jeffrey died instantly. Elkins lived until the next day. The trouble was caused by a female of bad character, named Rebecca Chambers.

MINERS' STRIKE.

At Hazen's Station—A Large Number of Men Sent.

STRENSVILLE, O., June 7.—The miners at Hazen's Station, employed by the Keystone Coal Company, struck today. The trouble grew out of an order issued by the Company to the effect that a certain amount of slate and coal should not be removed. A large number of men are employed at these works.

Readers by a Circus Gang.

EAST SAVANNAH, Mich., June 7.—At a late hour last night a gang of roughs attached to Hill and McDevitt's circus made a descent upon a crowd of people assembled at the Bowery dance at the village of Cheesing, and commenced an attack with armed clubs.

James McDonald, traveling on a tour of inspection of the wheat crop for the Chicago Board of Trade, was in the city today, en route to Pennsylvania and New York. He has been through Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and several other States, and reports that the outlook is better in Ohio than in either of the other States. They will have a half crop, while the marked $5 a month ago, will fall a little below that on account of the recent drought. He says the farmers this fall will get a good price for their wheat.—Columbus Dispatch.

Dinner to Lawrence Barrett.

NEW YORK, June 7.—A complimentary dinner was given last evening to Lawrence Barrett, who sails for Europe in a few days. Mr. Brooks, of the New York Times, presided.

AT WASHINGTON.

VARIOUS MATTERS OF INTEREST.

Democratic Chieftains Design upon the Organization of the Next House—Trouble Among the Democratic Senate Employees—Minor News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7.—Talk about an anti-Republican combination to organize the next House of Congress has been revived here. While Speaker Randall is very active in organizing the movement, he does not expect to be the opposition candidate for Speaker. That honor is intended for Ladd, of Maine, who has been a staunch Democrat for years, and is acceptable to the Greenbackers. All the Democrats elected to the next House are willing to support Ladd, and the combination proposed to give the Greenbackers either Clerk or Sergeant-at-Arms, and control of an important committee. Ladd and the Greenbackers are to undertake to carry the Erie district in Maine, and by the election of Frye to the Senate, and the Democrats propose to carry Morton's district in New York City. Should the Republicans lose the two districts they would be in the minority. The Readjuster members of the Virginia House of Delegates, but the Democrats claim that if they carry Virginia next fall both Readjusters will vote with them in the organization of the House. Active operations looking to the organization of the House in December have been going on for some time, and the parties are so close that it will depend on Rev. J. Hyatt Smith, of Brooklyn, and the two Readjusters of Virginia. Greenback leaders say their members will vote to help the party. Ladd's friends say that the party will take place over the organization, and it is said that Conkling will have a voice in it; that if he is beaten for re-election as Senator he will have friends in the House who will prevent the administration from controlling the organization.

Orders for the removal of several Democratic employees of the Senate have been issued, and this has caused a flutter in Democratic circles. The employees claim that the Democratic Senators made their stand against a change of officers to prevent the removal of Democrats. Several Democratic Senators demand places for their benches, and the men who held appointments from ex-Democratic Senators have been recommended for removal. These removals have caused some dissatisfaction in the Democratic ranks.

THE MUTUAL UNION TELEGRAPH.

The Mutual Union Telegraph Company has begun work laying its wires through the city through the sewers of those streets where permission to erect poles could not be obtained. The wires are constructed in cables, and are attached to the upper surface of the arch of the sewers. Great interest is manifested in the movement by citizens, and it is expected that the company will be successful in its enterprise, which will have many of our most beautiful streets and avenues are obstructed and defaced.

THE PUBLIC PRINTER.

The statement that Hon. John D. DeFrees is to be removed from the position of Public Printer is said on excellent authority to be without the least foundation. As is well known, Mr. DeFrees is one of the most efficient officers in the government service.

GENERAL GRANT AND CONKLING.

The report is current here among the friends of General Grant, that he will not attempt to take any part in the contest over the New York Senatorship. In fact, it is said further by some of these friends, that Mr. Conkling and his associates do not regard it as good policy to have General Grant appear in the fight.

PENSION FUND REDUCTION.

Notwithstanding the reduction from 1,400 to 600 in the clerical force, the Census bureau appropriation will not admit of the payment of salaries to the present force beyond the 15th inst. The directors of the Census bureau, Superintendent Walker, and as the only available means of averting an entire cessation of operations until next winter, the Secretary of the Interior has issued a circular to the employees of the Census bureau, which, after stating the fact of the appropriation being nearly exhausted, he says if they desire to continue upon the work of the Census office as volunteers, expressly disavowing any claim against the Government in consequence thereof, and which, after stating the fact of the appropriation being nearly exhausted, he says if they desire to continue upon the work of the Census office as volunteers, expressly disavowing any claim against the Government in consequence thereof, and which, after stating the fact of the appropriation being nearly exhausted, he says if they desire to continue upon the work of the Census office as volunteers, expressly disavowing any claim against the Government in consequence thereof.

PARDONS TO PRISONERS.

The present administration is for no means as liberal in pardoning persons convicted of offences against the United States laws as its predecessor. Since the 4th of March last hundreds of applications for pardons have been filed in the Department of Justice, but only four have been granted. During the last administration the average of pardons granted per month was twenty-five, and during the present administration the average is only four.

AN OUTPOURING OF THE SPIRIT.

Over Two Thousand Converts in Six Months.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 7.—Probably the most remarkable religious interest ever known in this State is now manifested, especially in this city. The revival work began in the churches of the city almost six months ago, but the greatest impetus was given to it by the meetings led by Rev. Thomas Harrison, "the evangelist," at Roberts Park M. E. Church. Every church in the city is now having special revival services, and for two weeks large union meetings have been held at the Second Presbyterian Church. Sunday over 150 persons were received into the different churches on profession of faith. The various theatres have been given up to religious services on Sunday nights.

Since this religious agitation began probably 2,000 people altogether have been added to the various churches throughout the city. The reports throughout the State say that there is the liveliest interest manifested in the revival at Indianapolis. Commercial travelers report particulars about it, and, eager to hear of the progress. It is no common thing to hear of 1,000 conversions at one altar, as is the case at Roberts Park Church.

The meetings will be continued at the various churches as long as the interest continues, and at present there is no sign of a diminution in the fervor.

Mr. Harrison, the chief author of this excitement, is a young man about twenty-three or twenty-four years of age. He has a quick, nervous grey eye, which draws particular attention, and is eager to hear of the progress. It is no common thing to hear of 1,000 conversions at one altar, as is the case at Roberts Park Church.

The meetings will be continued at the various churches as long as the interest continues, and at present there is no sign of a diminution in the fervor.

NOTHING NEW.

IN THE SITUATION AT ALBANY, N. Y.

Some Lively Discussion Yesterday for the Sake of a Change—Another Ballot Without Result—Prospects for the Future.

ALBANY, June 7.—Lieutenant Governor Hasbain presided in the Senate joint convention which met at noon. The rules for the government, offered by Woodin yesterday, came up and after a debate the first and second rules were adopted and the third laid on the table.

Speaker Sharpe (Stewart) said he had a right to expect that Woodin would inform the Convention of the reasons for offering the rules, but he had not. The fact was, the Convention was governed by statute and parliamentary law, and a duly defined scope of action. He could only speak for his own side, but the Stalwarts intended to remain until Senators were elected. Any motion to adjourn was by law from day to day, and the rules were superfluous. Sharpe referred at great length to the effect of the rules, which he said was merely the re-enactment of a law of Congress, and moved the adoption of the two first rules, but opposed the third, that neither of the rules should be suspended or rescinded except by a two-thirds vote. He said that the Stalwarts intended to remain until Senators were elected. Any motion to adjourn was by law from day to day, and the rules were superfluous. Sharpe referred at great length to the effect of the rules, which he said was merely the re-enactment of a law of Congress, and moved the adoption of the two first rules, but opposed the third, that neither of the rules should be suspended or rescinded except by a two-thirds vote.

Woodin, in reply, said he had no purpose in offering the resolutions except to define to the public the meaning of the word "adjourn" when used in motions of the joint convention. He agreed with Sharpe in the interpretation of the law, and was determined that there should be no question as to the title of the Senators to be elected. But the trouble was that he could not tell what the court of final resort to which the dispute must be referred, namely, the United States Senate would do, as it had been made Democratic by a majority.

Woodin said he hoped the third rule also would be adopted as the two others would be useless without it.

Erastus Brooks (Democrat) denounced the insinuations against the Democratic Senate and denounced Conkling, saying his resignation was an insult to the people of the State. He hoped the Democrats would not heed the Stalwarts' appeal. Conkling had resigned to gratify a whim, and should be rebuked. The Democrats should vote solid for adjournment, in order that the people themselves could settle the question at the fall elections.

Raines, replying to Brooks, said the Democrats would never have a chance to initiate the act of Conkling. The only time the Democrats ever resigned was when they resigned by wholesale and planned the country into war.

Fowler (Dem.) spoke to the same effect, adding that the Democrats of the United States Senate would not let any Senators who were in the wrong in the right way.

Woodin retorted, "If the Democrats considered their right."

Spinoza denied the alleged relationship between the Stalwarts and Democrats, and said that anything in which they were alike was that they drank whiskey straight. He further asserted that the Democrats should force adjournment.

The vote for a successor to Conkling in the Senate stood:

Assembly:

The combined vote was as follows:

No choice. The convention adjourned.

Conkling arrived to-night and went at once to the Delevan hotel. There was no demonstration.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Farmer in Belmont County Instantly Killed Yesterday.

Belmont Independent of yesterday evening.

Mr. George Yoho, who resided on lands of Alexander Armstrong, Esq., a little distance from Armstrong's Mills, was struck by lightning and instantly killed at five o'clock this morning. Mr. Yoho had got up, and was sitting by the fireplace when he was killed. The electric fluid seems to have followed down the chimney, leaving it, and passing through the side of the house, and through the body of the deceased, tearing his clothing, singeing his hair, and lighting the hair on fire. All the glass in the windows of the room in which Mr. Yoho was sitting were broken by the escaping fluid. Though there were several members of the family in the house at the time, none of them were seriously hurt, some of them being slightly shocked. Deceased was about seventy years of age, was a quiet and well-disposed citizen, much respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and family of children, most of them grown. The house stood near Caplin's creek, and was in no way specially exposed to injury from this source.
